MARCH 2011

MARCH 24th LECTURE FEATURES “HOWARD JOHNSON: 28 FLAVORS”

Forget the snow and remember hot summer days savoring Howard Johnson’s 28 flavors of ice cream! Anthony Sammarco’s lecture on Thursday, March 24th at 7:30 pm is sure to bring back wonderful memories of choosing your favorite flavor. The lecture is free for DHS members and $5 for non-members.

“DEDHAM AT THE CROSSROADS” WITH ROBERT HANSON WILL BE TOPIC OF APRIL 14th LECTURE AND ANNUAL MEETING

The DHS Annual Meeting will be held at 7:30 pm on April 14th, followed by a lecture on Dedham history by Robert B. Hanson, the unofficial historian for the town of Dedham. Join us for a lively talk as Hanson reveals more secrets about Dedham and its 375 years of history. Hanson is both a past president and director of the Society. An avid researcher, Hanson always delights his audiences with interesting tales and combines his facts with plenty of humor. The lecture is free for DHS members and $5 for non-members.

“IMMIGRANT CHILDREN OF BREAD AND ROSES STRIKE” THEATRE PERFORMANCE ON APRIL 9th @ 2pm

Live theatre comes to the DHS on April 9th, with a production of “American Tapestry: Immigrant Children of the Bread and Roses Strike” by the Boston award winning theatre group Theatre Espresso. This interactive, original production is written for grades three and higher and encourages the audience to participate in a discussion with the actors during the performance. The story explores the Bread and Roses strike from the perspective of children from immigrant families who were working in the mills and were part of the historic strike.

What role did women and children play in the textile industry at the start of the 20th century? What were the effects of low wages, long workdays, and hazardous living and working environment on immigrant families? How did workers from a variety of ethnic backgrounds unite to improve working conditions at the Lawrence mills and nationwide?

The performance is $2 for all adults and free for children. This program is supported in part by a grant from the Dedham Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency, Eastern Bank, and the Dedham Rotary Club.

RESEARCH REQUEST FROM BRANDYWINE RIVER MUSEUM

Have you ever wondered what kinds of research questions the Society receives? Christine B. Podmaniczky, Associate Curator, N.C. Wyeth Collections, Brandywine River Museum, Chadds Ford, Pa, contacted the DHS in December 2010 in order to identify and locate information about a “Captain Onion” of Dedham. N. C. Wyeth, a noted painter and illustrator, painted a Captain Onion who had been in the Civil War and also the Onion House located in Dedham. Upon researching the topic Society Librarian Sandy Waxman, discovered that there were two Captain Onions (brothers) who had served in the Civil War, Edward and Henry. (Continued on back page)

The Society has a photo of Captain Edward Onion, but not one of Captain Henry Onion. Since Henry lived in the Onion House in the late 1800's and early 1900's, it is most likely that he is the individual in the painting. But without a picture of Henry for comparison it is difficult to definitively state which brother it might be.

Henry attended West Point, and served in Company F, 18th Massachusetts Regiment. Active in town affairs, he died in 1903 and is buried in Brookdale Cemetery.

N. C. Wyeth was born in Needham, Massachusetts and later lived in Chadd's Ford, Pennsylvania.

MEMORIES TO CELEBRATE DEDHAM'S 375th ANNIVERSARY

"Some Glimpses of a Boy's Life in Dedham in the '70's and 80's"

by Albert Hale, January 1943

At the time of the 250th anniversary of Dedham, in the summer of 1886, a large tent was spread on the (High Street) field, a dinner was served and speeches and other exercises held there. Many houses and public buildings were decorated with red, white and blue bunting and illuminated in the evening. The celebration started with the ringing of bells and a cannon salute at sunrise. At 10 o'clock a special train arrived from Boston, bringing the Governor and staff. Afterward came the grand parade, led by General Stephen Weld on horseback, as chief marshal. In the first division were the guests of honor followed by soldiers of the G.A.R. Then came engines from the fire departments of Dedham and neighboring towns, school children, twelve elaborate floats depicting important events in the history of the nation and the town, and about thirty floats representing local businesses. One exhibit, meeting with much approval, was Mr. Smith, the provision dealer, riding on a large ox. After the parade came the dinner and speeches, followed by band concerts, fireworks and dancing in the evening.

General Weld invited many men and older boys with horses to act as his sides. As a boy, my overwhelming craving was to possess a pony or horse. Owing to my intimacy with the Weld family, I hoped that General Weld would suggest that if I found a horse I might join. This hope occupied my thoughts day and night. Knowing nothing of this burning desire and knowing I possessed no horse, General Weld doubtless gave no thought to my availability. I never gave up hope, however. When the day arrived, it was a very sad boy who stood on the sidewalk and watched his friends prancing along at the head of the procession. (DHS Archives)
