

2018-2019 Lecture Series Begins The Dedham Historical Society & Museum

MFA's Nonie Gadsden to Speak at DHSM, 612 High Street; 781.326.1385

Thursday, September 20, 7:00 pm

Did you know that one of the most active and influential artistic jewelry-making and metalworking hubs in the nation was in Boston and surrounding communities in the early 20th century?

Join curator Nonie Gadsden of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, as she presents a “sneak peek” of her exhibition, Boston Made: Arts and Crafts Jewelry and Metalwork (opens November 17, MFA, Boston) at the Dedham Historical Society & Museum on September 20. Among the artisans she will discuss is Boston and Dedham silversmith and jeweler Katharine Pratt, whose silver Gothic-style box is owned by DHSM and will be on view in the MFA’s exhibition.

SAVE THE DATES: Votes for Women: Massachusetts Leaders in the Woman Suffrage Movement (Tuesday, October 16, 7:00 pm); Honoring the Centennial of the End of WWI (Sunday, November 18, 2:00 pm); River Stories: Past, Present & Future (Thursday, February 21, 2019, 7:00 pm); The Fashion and History of Shoes (Thursday, March 21, 7:00 pm); The First Settlers of Dedham: The Region’s Indigenous Peoples (Thursday, April 18, 7:00 pm).
